CONDITION ON ADMISSION AND PROGRESS OF CASE Complaints:- Shortness of breath on exertion.---Pain in right chest, especially when talking.--Nervousness.-

History:-

Enlisted in Canada 16-11-15.----Proceeded overseas to France 5½ months Shot through right shoulder.--16-11-16.---Sent to various hospitals, finally to Canada.---Discharged in Kingston 30-11-17.---Got a job inspecting.---His right shoulder chest and arm were always weak since he was hit.---

Present Condition:- Patient is a fairly well developed male, presenting an anxious appearance combined with a worried look.---He uses his right arm very little and complains bitterly of his right chest over the pectoralis major(is)touched. The movements of the right shoulder are all present but slow when done voluntarel.---His whole right side he says is weak. ---The condition is purely functional.---He is a neurotic individual and accentuates his disability to an enormus degree.--The slightest pressure over the pectoralis muscle right side, causes great pain, and he breathes hard, perspires and sighs and worries, with pain There is no evidence of organic disease.---He sleeps well and eats well. Slight fullness of thyroid glandx.--All other systems negative.

Knee Jerks active.

Memory good.
Cerebration fair.
He talks slow and deliberate.--
Cranial nerves normal.

D.C.S.(Lt.)

25-1-19;- No marked improvement.

D.C.S.

10-2-19;- Condition unchanged. Is very hard to argue with or talk to. He will not be convinced that there is no organic reason for his disability

D.C.S.

24-2-19;- Seen by Col. Russel who said this disability was purely functional, but to be sure, to have X-Ray of chest taken and obtain an orthopedic report.

D.C.S.(Lt.)

March 8th.,1919;- Great complaint of pain in right chest.--No evidence of any organic disease, in chest or arm.---

A.A.Robertson.(Capt.)

10-3-19;- Patient stripped and examined again, to find any evidence of pressure on intercostal nerves.---There is no anaesthesia but there is a hyperasthesia which does not correspond to any definite nerve supply. This changes.---The patient cannot put his finger to the painful spot on his chest unless he looks.----There is no limitation of movement to the arm or shoulder.---He can swing clubs, but he says he tires easily (after 20 sec.) but his muscles are healthy and there is no reason for fatigue.--- He sighs deeply and says that it hurts him to breath.----His chief ground for complaint is" a great injustice is being done me in regards to my pension". He is now getting ~~xx~~ $15.00 per. month and he thinks his condition warrants more.
Personally I do not think he should get any as there is no organic cause for his complaints.

March 14th.,1919;- X-Ray shows shell splinter 3" from mid. line probably in front of rib.---The T.B. is 3/8 triangle in shape.----The angle of the rib shows dark shadows as if bone had been injured.----The neurologic pains are evidently of traumatic origion.---
Request localizing---X-Ray.---

~~xxxxxxxxx~~

March 17th.,1919;- Localizing X-Ray shows T.B. to be situated about 3¼ " from anterior chest wall and about 4" from posterior wall.---
Refer to surgery for opinion as to adjustibility of operation.
