CONDITION ON ADMISSION AND PROGRESS OF CASE

Aug. 15, 1919.

This patient was referred by Major Wadge for neurological report. He complains of some indefinite pains in the extremities and of frequent pain over the sternum and epigastrian. He also feels away below par generally. His appetite is usually poor, and he has not the usual amount of energy and ambition which he usually has.

He gives a history of having had very frequent attacks of vomiting, which he describes as biliousness, up to the age of 14, and since then has had attacks which are quite definitely migrain. He has lost a good deal of weight, and is now 15 lbs. under. Blood count: Hb, 70; Wbc, 105,00; Rbc, 4,800; differential shows Polymophs 74; Lympocytes, 24; Mononucleaus, 2; Eosinophils, 0. X-Ray Bismuth series: The duodenal cap is persistently irregular, and there is marked viceroptosis. Gastric analysis shows free Hcl 30, total acidity 65, lactic acid and blood 0.

Examination shows a tall, thin, rather pale man. Facial expression rather heavy. Pupils round, concentric, equal and active. No nystagmus. Teeth in poor condition. Gait and station normal. Tongue clear. Sensation to painful stimuli a little decreased and delayed and prolonged. Superficial and tendon reflexes equal and active. Mitral regurgitant murmur is noted. No ataxia or inco-ordination. No history or evidence of syphilis.

FAMILY HISTORY (Tuberculosis, mental or nervous diseases.) He belonged to the permanent force before the war, and for the last four years and a half has had a responsible clerical position involving a good deal of organising. He has taken his work seriously, and in that time has worked seven days a week almost constantly. He also had some financial worries, not, however, of a very serious nature, but these are now disposed of.

TREATMENT (Especially any specific or special form) I find no evidence of organic neurological disability, but [illegible] asthenia which I think can be accounted for by over application to work without sufficient relaxation, and he is now paying the price of burning the candle at both ends.

I would recommend that he be given some work in the Gym. as a daily routine, and outdoor exercise to the degree of comfortable tiredness; and after considerable improvement in his general condition is shown, unless there is some intestinal disturbance counterindicating it, I think the prolonged sick [illegible] could complete his restoration to usual condition of health.

CONDITION ON DISCHARGE (and disposal made of case.)
