Disease Laryngeal Catarrh

Complaint. Pain in throat & cough.

Family history. Mother died suddenly of syncope — the cause of which is unknown — 6 years ago. Father alive & healthy. A brother died of appendicitis with peritonitis. Two brothers & a sister are living, the brothers healthy, the sister rheumatic.

Personal history. Was a checker of lumber in British Columbia, & at another time a carpenter, before joining the army. Was 9 months at the front — gassed at Ypres, buried by a shell at Ploegsteert, not wounded.

Habits. Smokes about 10 cigarettes daily. Drinks a glass of ale at dinner & another at night, rarely exceeds this, never drinks to excess.

Previous illnesses. Suffered from insomnia in Canada & it has continued since, cannot get to sleep till one or two a.m. Has "always" suffered from throat trouble — sore throat with enlarged glands. Has frequently had attacks of catarrh of left side of nose with accompanying inflammation & weakness of left eye. ~~Has~~ Did not suffer much at the time from being gassed, but was ill in billets for 12 days after — he does not know the name of the illness. Suffered from shell-shock for 2 months or more after being buried by a shell. Has had a morning cough for more than a year. No accidents or wounds.

Present illness. Ten days ago felt his throat getting sore & little lumps forming under his tongue. Had difficulty in swallowing. Nerves got out of order & he seemed to break down.

Physical examination. Well made & muscular. T. 98.2°, P. 78, reg. Tongue furred. No septic stumps of teeth. Throat & soft palate reddened. Tenderness at one point of left sterno-mastoid, near angle of jaw. No enlarged glands in neck. Complains of a stabbing pain in swallowing in the region of the Foramen Adami, chiefly on the right side.

Heart: normal except for slight reduplication of 1st sound at left margin of sternum.

*The first and last entries will be signed, and transfers from one Medical Officer to another, attested by their signatures.

5. The original and duplicate attestations of recruits who are rejected before, or on, final approval will be retained by the approving officer for one year, when they will be destroyed.
