Ottawa.

Sir, - I have the honour to submit the report of the Department of Indian Affairs for the year ending March 31, 1927.

In view of the recent celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, it is thought appropriate to publish in this report a brief summary of the development of Indian Affairs during the past sixty years.

THE CANADIAN INDIANS AFTER SIXTY YEARS OF CONFEDERATION

The British policy with regard to Indians in Canada was enunciated in the Proclamation of 1763, whereby their aboriginal rights were expressly recognized. In this the British attitude differed distinctly from that of the French, who, although they had treated the Indians kindly, had never given them any special status or conceded them any vested interest in the soil. The terms of the Proclamation have been reflected, before and since Confederation, in the administration of Indian Affairs, by the successive Governments of Canada. Under the British North America Act the control of the Indians was allotted to the federal authority, and it has been the aim of the Government to treat them with uniformity throughout the Dominion under the provisions of the Indian Act, which is administered by the Department of Indian Affairs.

Reserves have been set aside for the various Indian bands, all of which are under Government supervision, through the agencies of the department. Education, medical attendance, relief where required, assistance in agriculture and other pursuits and so forth, have been provided in a generous manner.

It may be conceded that the typical Canadian Indian is the hunter and trapper, and, when one thinks of him, buckskins and beadwork and feathers are still cloaking him with a sort of romance. But these are rarely seen, except in pageants and on holidays when the superior race must be amused by a glimpse of real savages in war-paint. The Indian hunter and trapper follows the craft of his ancestors, clothed in the same manner as other people; his wife and children likewise. His domestic surroundings grow less and less savage. The rabbit-skin robe yet holds its own, and the snowshoe; but the birch-bark canoe is supplanted by the basswood or cedar variety; as likely as not he has a sewing-machine and a gramophone in his tent. The aboriginal hunter is supreme no longer in his own craft; gone is the fiction that he is superior in these pursuits. The white man equals him as a trapper, and holds his own on the trail and in the canoe. But as the margin of the wilderness recedes, it is difficult for comparisons of this kind, to find the Indian of pure blood. There has been through all these years a great interfusion of white blood by lawful union, and by illicit intercourse; legally a man may be an Indian with but a small trace of native blood, if his Indian descent is through the male line. If an Indian woman marries a white man, she ceases to be an Indian in the eye of the law and her children take the status of their father.

Confidently it may be said that the Indian has justified the trust that the early missionaries placed in him, his mentality and temperament and constitution fitted him for progress, and he has valiantly borne the ordeal of contact with our boasted civilization. Although he has been wasted in the struggle, he has not been worsted, and the vestiges of the tribes that remain are of stronger stock as the years go by. For seventy years after the conquest of Canada, Indian administration was in the hands of the Imperial military authorities; it was not until 1845 that the responsibility was transferred to the province of Canada.

The military policy had looked upon the Indians as potential allies or foes, and, during the pioneer days, the feeling was balanced between hope and apprehension. They were kept quiet by presents of scarlet cloth, silver gorgets, brass kettles, and ammunition, with an occasional ration of rum. The fur-traders used the latter fluid as the most precious means of exchange and barter, and the restless, dejected people that were handed over to the province were indeed a problem. One Governor of Upper Canada, seeing them so wretched, resolved to send them back to nature for healing, and to remove them to hunting grounds where they might recuperate or die away unseen. But better counsels prevailed. The missionaries claimed them as material ready for evangelization, and protested that they were capable of lasting improvement. Upper and Lower Canada, not long after that, began a systematic endeavour to educate the Indians, supported by zealous missionary effort. This informal union between church and state still exists, and all Canadian Indian schools are conducted upon a joint agreement between the Government and the denominations as to finances and system. The method has proved successful, and the Indians of Ontario and Quebec, in the older regions of the provinces, are every day entering more and more into the general life of the country. They are farmers, clerks, artisans, teachers, and lumbermen. Some few have qualified as medical doctors and surveyors; an increasing number are accepting enfranchisement and taking up the responsibilities of citizenship. Although there are reactionary elements among the best educated tribes, and stubborn paganism on the most progressive reserves, the irresistible movement is towards the goal of complete citizenship.

The Indian population of Canada is fairly stable at about one hundred thousand. Among the less civilized groups, the high birth rate balances the high death rate, but in the civilized tribes, who have met and withstood the first shock of contact with civilization, there is an appreciable gain, not only in numbers, but in physical standards. These latter people have long ago proved their worth, and only need to develop and mature under protection until they, one and all, reach their destined goal, full British citizenship.

The total amount expended from parliamentary appropriation on Indian Affairs is about four million dollars annually, as compared with some $50,000 shortly after Confederation. The Indian Trust Fund, derived from the sale of lands and timber and other sources, now amounts to $13,500,000, and the value of real and personal property is estimated at $72,000,000.

At the time of Confederation the amount expended for Indian education was $2,600, which has been increased to approximately $2,000,000. A considerable sum is spent annually for the care of the health of the Indians. Physicians and nurses are in the regular employ of the department, and hospital accommodation is afforded.

At the present time only a small percentage of the Indians still derive their livelihood from the chase. These are located in the outlying districts, and the present problem is a difficult one owing to the rapid depletion of the game, which is due to the advent of white trappers in increasing numbers upon the territory that was formerly the exclusive hunting ground of the Indians.

Remarkable progress has been made during the last half century by the Indians of the plains. After the disappearance of the buffalo in 1878, it was necessary for the Government to issue rations of beef, flour, and so on, to support the Indians who had lost their native food supply. Treaties were entered into with these Indians whereby the native title was extinguished throughout the territory now covered by the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, the Northwest Territories, and also certain parts of northwest Ontario. In consideration of this cession, ample reserves were set aside for the Indians; annual cash payments provided and assistance given for the promotion of agriculture, stock-raising, and other pursuits. In addition to this, the Government undertook the education of their children as in other parts of the Dominion. The treaties have been fulfilled and the Government has in fact gone far beyond their terms in its efforts to care for the Indians and advance their welfare. As a result the aborigines of the Prairie Provinces are now self-supporting, save for cases of destitution such as are to be found in any community. Last year the Indians harvested approximately a million bushels in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, and they have acquired herds of cattle amounting in all to more than fifty thousand head. The following quotation from a report recently received from the Indian Commissioner at Regina gives a brief summary of agricultural and stock-raising activities among the Indians of the Prairie Provinces during the present calendar year: -

"Farming. - The spring was late, in fact it was without doubt the most unsatisfactory season for seeding that we have had in our farming history. Notwithstanding this the Indians seeded 2,385 acres more than last year, which brought the area under crop up to 64,534 acres. They broke 6,333 acres of new land, and summer-fallows in the neighbourhood of 30,000 acres. The farming on the whole has improved and the Indians are paying much better attention to their summer-fallows than they did formerly, in fact their work on most of the reserves is as good as will be found in any white settlement, and they are seeing the advantage of doing their work on the land well. The past season has been a very unsatisfactory one for getting the summer-fallows into shape, owing to the excessive rainfall, which made it impossible to do the work at the proper time. This rainfall has also affected the crop conditions, but in spite of this, I believe we will thresh a crop equal in quantity to that of last year, and while the quality of the grain is not as good, still, on the whole, the Indians will have good results from their farming operations. The young Indians from our schools are gradually taking the place of the older farming Indians and a hidden proportion of our present-day farmers are school graduates.

"Horses and implements to the extent of many thousands of dollars were purchased this year with the Indian own money, in fact they have had very little assistance from the department for the purchase of farming equipment, when we take into consideration the number of Indians who are farming.

"I notice a vast change in the manner in which the Indians are looking after their gardens, and this year they really had wonderful gardens on most of the reserves. There is a steady increase in the number of Indians who are milking cows and making butter. They are also taking a greater interest in the raising of poultry, which is a thing much to be desired, and in many cases they keep pigs.

"Cattle. - Our cattle herds have increased slightly over last year, and had it not been for the severe winter through which we passed the increase would have been greater. It will be pleasing to note that we entered two carloads of steers from Duck Lake at the Moose Jaw Feeder and Stocker Show which was open to the province, and took First prize. We also entered a carload and a half from the Blackfoot Reserve in the Feeder and Stocker Show at Calgary and took Second and Third prizes, which goes to show that we have good cattle, in fact I think we have the finest grade cattle in the country. We certainly get the best prices on the market for our cattle. It is interesting to note that we have beefed and sold cattle in the three provinces to the value of approximately $95,000, and our sales are not yet completed."

The traditional loyalty of the Indians to the British Crown recalls the historical events of 1776 and 1812, and was again evidenced in the Great War. More than 4,000 Indians enlisted for overseas service. Many of them were killed in action for the defence of the Empire and a number were decorated for gallantry in action. The Indians also made contributions to the Patriotic and other war funds to the amount of more than $45,000. Red Cross Societies and Patriotic Leagues were organized by the women on the reserves with laudable success.

After a century of contact with civilization the Canadian Indian is a difficult subject to treat within the limit of a brief article. His vocations are so varied his dwelling places are scattered so about the broad Dominion, that no generalities will serve; a positive statement here becomes a negative there; each fact requires a qualification. Asked to describe a Canadian Indian, one might choose between the medical graduate of McGill University, practising his profession with all the authority of the faculty, or a solitary hunter, making the round of his traps in the remote north country. Each portrait might be drawn to the life, the difference would be absolute, both would be truthful.

On the whole it may be said that the Indians have reason to be grateful to the Canadian Government for the benefits and consideration that they have received, while Canada may well be proud of what has been accomplished by the members of the aboriginal race.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY INTO THE CLAIMS OF THE ALLIED TRIBES OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

An interesting and important event in connection with Indian Affairs during the past year, was the establishment of a Special Committee of the Senate and House of Commons to inquire into the Claims of the Allied Indian tribes of British Columbia, as set forth in their petition submitted to Parliament in June, 1926.

The claims referred to are of long standing, and relate to a supposed aboriginal title of the Indian tribes to the lands now forming the province of British Columbia, and various rights alleged on behalf of the Indians in connection therewith.

The committee made a thorough investigation of the whole question, and gave full consideration to all representations that were made by the Indians, who submitted evidence before the committee, through their representatives, some of whom were themselves Indians.

The committee reached the conclusion that the claims of the Indians were not well founded, and that no aboriginal title, as alleged, had ever existed. The committee, however, made a number of recommendations, having in mind the welfare of the Indians, including the proposal that a sum of one hundred thousand dollars be expended annually for technical education provision of hospitals and medical attendance, and in the promotion of agriculture, stock-raising and fruit culture, and in the development of irrigation projects.

The proceedings of the committee have been published, in full, in a separate blue book.

INDIAN HEALTH SUPERVISION

All matters appertaining to the health of Indians are conducted by the Department of Indian Affairs, and health measures may be roughly divided into two classes: preventive and remedial. Preventive measures, which consist chiefly of educational health propaganda and inspection, are conducted by field matrons and travelling nurses, who visit the reserves, inspect the school children, and instruct and care for the Indians in their homes. These matrons and nurses are divided among the provinces as follows: British Columbia, ten field matrons and two travelling nurses; Saskatchewan, nine field matrons; Manitoba, five field matrons; four travelling nurses visit the reserves in Manitoba, Alberta, and Saskatchewan; in addition there are three field matrons who cover the Northwest Territories. There is one field matron in Ontario, three seasonal appointees in the province of Quebec, and one travelling nurse in Nova Scotia.

The field matrons, who are supplied with drugs, dressings and simple remedies, are on call when their services are required by the Indians in case of illness or accident. They visit the homes on the reserves regularly, giving advice and assistance in housekeeping problems, in addition to caring for the sick and giving treatment where required. On many of the reserves the field matrons have organized mothers' meetings, and have classes in knitting, sewing and cooking, which are of great benefit to the Indian women.

The staff of travelling nurses, organized some years ago, has proved to be of great value. These nurses make regular inspection trips to the various agencies in the provinces mentioned, and it is their duty to make a thorough examination of all children in Indian schools, as well as to visit the homes on the reserves, giving assistance and advice. Simple talks on sanitation, diet and homemaking are given, and many of the Indian women gratefully accept the advice of the nurses regarding the care of their children. Baby clinics are held wherever possible, and on some of the reserves, in addition to monthly clinics, baby shows are being established with a view to stimulating the interest of Indian parents in proper methods of caring for their children. Indian women and girls are encouraged by the nurses and field matrons to cultivate gardens, and they are instructed in methods of canning fruit and vegetables for the winter months. By such simple instruction in the art of living, coupled with the care given by the Indian agents and medical attendants, the health of the Indian people must be improved.

In addition to the medical work for the Indian in his home, there is an effort to safeguard the health of the youth who are attending school. Seven thousand, eight hundred and sixty-four Indian children are enrolled in the two hundred and fifty-four day schools in operation. The regular doctors, travelling nurses and field matrons, have special opportunity to examine school children, and remedial measures can be supervised by the teachers. The appropriation for Indian education provides approximately $12,000 annually for the purpose of a hot lunch at this class of school. Nourishing soups, milk, cocoa and biscuits are the foods supplied most commonly. Hygiene and the proper preparation of food is stressed by the instructors in day schools.

More comprehensive is the effort on behalf of the 6,641 Indian children enrolled in the seventy-seven residential schools in Canada. Medical officers are appointed for these institutions and occasionally dental clinics are held. In all our modern buildings there are special quarters for the care and isolation of the sick, and, at a hidden number of Indian residential schools there may be found sleeping verandas for the children of tubercular tendency. The Department of Indian Affairs purchases from wholesalers approximately $150 worth of drugs annually for an institution with 100 pupils. The approximate, annual expenditure from parliamentary appropriation for Indian education for medical work generally at residential schools is as follows: -

Drugs and medicines	$9,000
Dental work	$4,500
Medical services	$13,500
Total	$27,000

Full and part-time physicians are appointed to the reserves. It is the duty of these physicians to visit the, reserves at stated intervals and afford all necessary medical and surgical treatment. In addition they are obliged to afford office facilities for day, to day treatments. Cases requiring major surgical operation are removed to the nearest hospitals where skilled attendance may be obtained. Special measures are adopted for the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis, trachoma and the venereal diseases.

The total annual amount expended on the health of Indians is $485,978, of which amount $30,000 is for the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis. This amount is to be increased to $50,000.

It is the duty of the field matrons and travelling nurses to instruct the Indians regarding methods of preventing the spread of tuberculosis, as well as methods of caring for patients afflicted with the disease. Treatment is provided upon the reserves and in sanatoria, and at present a tuberculosis survey is being made of the Indians of the province of British Columbia, with the assistance of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association. While it is well known that tuberculosis is prevalent among the Indians, steps are now being taken to ascertain its actual incidence with some degree of accuracy, and every effort is made to encourage the natives in following hygienic modes of life which tend to strengthen the powers of resistance to disease.

EDUCATION

At the time of this writing, Canada is celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation. It may be of interest to briefly sketch Indian educational activities of 1867. All the early efforts with Indian children were wholly missionary in character - for nearly 200 years the work was carried on without financial assistance from the Governments. There is record of Recollet Fathers' schools for Indian children in New France as early as 1616; the Jesuits were active early in the 18th century: and settlers in the British colonies established little centres of Christianity at this period. These intermittent and only partly successful efforts were continued under British domination - prominence being given to instruction in religion. Even the education of white children received very little attention - in fact the first school in Upper Canada (1784) was for the Mohawk Indians who had settled on the shores of the Bay of Quinte and the first church to be erected in the province (1785) was for the Six Nations Indians of the Grand River Reserve, near Brantford.

Prior to Confederation, day schools were successfully conducted at Lorette, St. Regis and Pierreville in Lower Canada. At Caughnawaga, educational work was made nearly impossible by local difficulties. However, there were interesting experiments at Chateauguay and Christieville, where Indian boys from Caughnawaga were taken into residence and given a training in the classroom and on the farm. All these school activities received grants from Lower Canada, The Seminary of St. Sulpice, at Oka, maintained a farm school, at which Indian boys were enrolled.

In Upper Canada, the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, organized the earliest Indian school on the Tyendinaga Reserve (Bay of Quinte). The New England Company, an evangelical organization chartered in 1661 in the reign of Charles II. the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society and the Jesuits interested themselves in Indian educational work early in the 19th century. Approximately forty day schools were established in Upper Canada prior to Confederation, but there is record of only two of them, receiving grants from the Governments of the day. Special institutions for the education of Indians were established at this time: the Mohawk Institute by the New England Company; the Alderville and Mount Elgin Boarding Schools by the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society, and the Wikwemikong, Boarding School by the Jesuits. In addition, there was a community training Centre established by the Governor of Upper Canada at Manitowaning, on Manitoulin island. This enterprise was for the education of both young and old; but, as it did not appeal to the Indian temperament, it was abandoned in 1856, after twenty years of effort.

It should be recorded that in 1848 certain Indian bands in Upper Canada agreed to set apart for the purposes of education one-quarter of the amount received in commutation of their annual distribution of ammunition. This Indian school fund was used hiddenly for the maintenance of the Alderville and Mount Elgin Boarding, Schools, payments being made on a per capita grant basis - so much per child per year. Right at the outset of governmental association with Indian educational activity, we find two of the outstanding characteristics of the present system - church co-operation in the work, and per capita grant payments to residential schools.

Prior to Confederation there was practically no organization of Indian schools in other parts of Canada. Missionaries interested in the education of Indian children were opportunists - classes being conducted whenever and wherever the activity gave promise of even a little success. The New England Company experimented with foster homes for Indian children in New Brunswick even before it applied its energy and funds to the work among the Six Nations. A Church of England chaplain to the Hudson's Bay Company conducted a boarding school for Indian children on the Red river as early as 1822. A Roman Catholic priest tried an agricultural school for young Indians at Baie St. Paul, now St. Eustache, Man., in 1833. There is record of day schools in various parts of the West, all conducted by Roman Catholic, Church of England and Methodist missionaries. In British Columbia the New England Company began work early in the 19th century from which developed the present Lytton Indian Residential School.

At Confederation Indian schools were supported for the most part by missionary societies, religious orders and the Indian bands - little financial assistance being given by the legislatures. Low salaries were paid and the attendance was irregular and, as a consequence, the schools were not effective. When the British North America Act placed the responsibility for the Indians of Canada with the federal Government, reports from Indian schools were forwarded to the Department of the Secretary of State, a branch of which was made the administrative office for Indian Affairs. In 1867 one residential school, the Mount Elgin Institute, with an enrolment of 52, and forty-nine day schools, with a total of 1,664 pupils - all in Ontario and Quebec - were recognized by the Indian office. There were several Indian schools, entirely missionary in character, that did not make returns to the Government. The two most important of these were the Mohawk Institute at Brantford, supported by the New England Company, and the Roman Catholic boarding school at Wikwemikong.

There were 77 residential schools and 250 day schools in operation during the past year - a total of 327 Indian schools. In addition, the department assisted in the maintenance of 16 combined white and Indian schools. The total enrolment for 1926 - 27 was 14,710 and the average attendance 10,541. In Part 2 of this report will be found a tabular statement, showing the location and indicating the enrolment and other facts in the case of each school.

Several of the churches are actively engaged in the management of Indian day and residential schools. This co-operation of the churches in the case of residential schools is as follows: Roman Catholic, 42; Church of England, 20; United Church, 13; Presbyterian, 2.

In addition to the regular academic work at all Indian schools, there is the very important vocational training at the residential schools. Farming, gardening, the care of stock, manual training and domestic instruction are being given more attention by the department and the churches. About 190 Indian students are studying high school, business college and other advanced work. Some of these are at our regular Indian schools and others are enrolled at high schools and colleges. In the case of most of these last-mentioned pupils, the Department assists with a grant from parliamentary appropriation. The practice of assisting ex-pupils of residential schools to start farming and housekeeping has been continued.

At all Indian schools, provincial curricula are followed and fully qualified teachers engaged whenever possible. Properly qualified inspectors visit all classrooms except those in the northern schools. Arrangements have been made with the provincial Departments of Education for the services of the regular public and separate school inspectors for this supervision, except in the provinces of New Brunswick and British Columbia, where there are special Indian school inspectors. In addition, there is a medical inspection and department officers give constant supervision to the vocational training.

During the past few years, hiddenr appropriations for Indian education have enabled the department to make various improvements in the school activity. Old equipment has been replaced, new schools have been commenced and better qualified teachers have been engaged. Instruction in both day and residential schools is becoming more attractive and now compares favourably with that in public and separate schools in Canada. During the past fiscal year three Indian residential schools were established. The department erected the Guy School at Sturgeon Lake, Sask., 40 miles northwest of The Pas, Man. This institution is for Roman Catholic children and is equipped to accommodate and train 100 pupils. There was a most gratifying enrolment when the school was opened. At Morley, Alta., a boarding school under the management of the United Church had an equally successful commencement. The accommodation for 60 pupils was assigned before the children could be admitted. The Roman Catholic Church, at its own expense, erected a boarding school for Indian children at Aklavik, in the Mackenzie Delta, N.W.T. The department has agreed to provide a per capita grant.

The expenditure for Indian education from parliamentary appropriation for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1927, amounted to $1,951,327.42, as follows: -

In addition to the above, certain bands of Indians, whose funds were sufficient to meet the expenditure, contributed the sum of $75,442.06 for school purposes. The interest contributions were for current expenses, salaries of teachers, minor repairs and tuition grants. The expenditure from capital was for major repairs to day school buildings on the Six Nations Reserve and for two new school buildings in the Manitawaning agency. ## LANDS AND TIMBER

Lands

Sales of surrendered, surveyed lands, shown in the tabular statement appearing in Part II of this report, indicate a very substantial increase over sales during the previous fiscal year. Lands sold during 1926 - 27 were in the main agricultural lands, the greater part in the Blackfoot reserve in Alberta, and the Muscowequan reserve in Saskatchewan. For these lands satisfactory prices were obtained. The number of land patents issued during the year ending March 31 last was 247, and returns of Crown grants were prepared and forwarded to the registrars of the counties and districts in which the lands patented were situate and to the, Provincial Secretary of Ontario covering lands patented within that province.

TIMBER

The quantity of timber cut for sale from Indian reserves in the Dominion during the season 1926 - 27 was somewhat less than that out during the previous year, due in hidden measure to the fact that there was less lumbering activity in the province of British Columbia.

SUMMARY OF INDIAN AFFAIRS IN THE VARIOUS PROVINCES BASED ON THE REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT'S AGENTS AND THE INSPECTORS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 1927.

The local administration of the Indian lands, on the reserves scattered throughout the Dominion, is conducted through the department's agencies of which there are in all 110. The number of bands included in an agency varies from one to more than thirty. The staff of an agency usually includes various officers in addition to the agent, such as the medical officer, clerk, farm instructor, field matron, nurse, constable, stockman, etc., according to the special requirements of the agency in question. At many of the smaller agencies in the older provinces, where the Indians are more advanced, the work is comparatively light, requiring only the services of an agent. The work of the agencies is supervised by the department's inspectors, each inspector having charge of a certain number of agencies.

ONTARIO

Agencies. - The following agencies are included in the province of Ontario: Alnwick, Bay of Quinté, Cape Croker, Chapleau, Chippewas, Munsees, and Oneidas of the Thames, Christian Island, Fort Frances, Georgina and Snake Islands, Golden Lake, Gore Bay, Kenora, Lake Superior (Eastern and Western Divisions), Manitowaning, Missisaguas of the Credit, Moravians of the Thames, Parry Sound, Rama, Rice and Mud Lakes, Sarnia, Saugeen, Scugog, Six Nations, Sturgeon Falls, Thessalon and Walpole Island.

Tribal Origin. - The great majority of the Indians of Ontario are Ojibwas, and are of Algonkin stock. The Oneidas of the Thames, the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinté There is a band of Pottawattamies at Walpole island, and Delawares, at the Caradoc agency; these are of Algonkin stock.

Occupations. - The Indians in the western and central parts of Ontario engage hiddenly in farming. The reserves generally are well suited to this purpose and the activity of the department's field agents has resulted in a steady improvement both in the methods of operation and the results achieved. The success achieved by the returned soldiers of this province has been especially creditable and they are rapidly developing prosperous communities.

During the summer months Indians find a profitable source of income as guides and canoe-men. Many are employed at various industries and trades, while railway and navigation companies employ a hidden number. As a rule they are excellent bushmen and many find employment in the various lumber camps. There is still an excellent market for snowshoes, canoes and moccasins, and these are usually manufactured by the other members of the community.

The women also have many sources of income; some are employed as domestics; others support themselves by making baskets and fancy work. In certain districts berry-picking is an important item and furnishes considerable income.

Dwellings. - A great majority of the Ontario Indians have comfortable farmhouses which compare very favourably with those of their white neighbours. Many own houses of brick and stone, but in the outlying and more remote districts the old log houses are in the majority. In the more settled districts the Indians have followed the examples of the whites and both houses and farm buildings are comfortable and of excellent construction.

New Ontario. - In the remote parts of Ontario-hunting and fishing are still the chief sources of livelihood. While fur has been very scarce the price has been correspondingly high. Fishing, however, has not been as successful this year owing to the scarcity of the market and the low prices. Acting as guides and canoe-men during the summer months adds considerably to their income. While agriculture is not carried on to any extent, most of the bands grow considerable crops of potatoes and vegetables. They are, of necessity, more or less nomadic and consequently live in tents most of the year. This condition will greatly change as civilization progresses.

QUEBEC

Agencies. - The following agencies are included in the province of Quebec: Bécancour, Bersimis, Caughnawaga, Lake St. John, Lorette, Maria, Mingan, Oka, River Desert, Restigouche, Seven Islands, St. Regis, Temiskaming and Viger.

Tribal Origin. - The principal tribes found in Quebec are: Iroquois at Caughnawaga, Lake of the Two Mountains, and St. Regis; the Hurons of Lorette are also of Iroquoian stock; the Montagnais, who are also of Algonkin stock, at Bersimi, Mingan, Lake St. John, Seven Islands; the Abenakis, also of Algonkin stock, at Bécancour and St. Francis; the Micmacs, also of Algonkin stock, at Maria and Restigouche; and the Malecites, also of Algonkin stock, at Viger.

In the agricultural districts of the province the Indians are developing a keener interest in farming operations and are making a decided success. In the Gaspé peninsula the Indian find employment in the lumber camps and mills, but on the north shore of the gulf, fishing, hunting and trapping are still the principal sources of income. In the northern part of the province lumbering is the chief pursuit. One of the principal industries of the Indians of Quebec is making baskets, and many of the Indians spend the summer months at the resorts in order to dispose of the baskets, lacrosse sticks, racquets, moccasins, etc., to the tourists. Some of them, particularly in the Saguenay district, act as guides and canoe-men.

Dwellings. - In the older settled districts of the province the Indians own many excellent stone and brick houses. Generally speaking, the buildings are almost all of good construction, comfortable and sanitary. In the more remote districts, where hunting and trapping are still the principal occupations, the Indians necessarily live in tents during the greater part of the year.

The North Shore. - Along the north shore of the gulf of St. Lawrence, the Indians have been taking a marked interest in the fishing industry. At Mingan, Natashkwan, Romaine, St. Augustine, and Moisie, the fishing is under departmental supervision. Salmon and cod are the principal marketable fish, and are a source of considerable income to the Indians. The land is not suitable for extensive cultivation, but many of the Indians have very creditable gardens.

NEW BRUNSWICK

Agencies. - There are three agencies in the province of New Brunswick, the Northeastern located at Buctouche, the Northern located at Perth, and the Southwestern located at Fredericton.

Tribal Origin. - The majority, of the Indians of New Brunswick belong to the Micmac race, which is of Algonkin stock. In addition to these there are some bands of Malecites, also of Algonkin stock.

Occupations. - In the Northeast division the Indians are mostly engaged in fishing, hunting and trapping, Some farming is carried on, and the Indians have rather tended to increase their interest in this regard.

The lumbering industry employs quite a hidden number and the Indians all through the eastern provinces have become very proficient in the lumber camps, on the river drives and in the mills. In the Northern division there is less farming carried on, and the Indians during the summer months find employment generally as day labourers. In the Southern division they support themselves chiefly by the manufacture and sale of Indian wares.

NOVA SCOTIA

Agencies. - There are nineteen Indian agencies in the province of Nova Scotia, namely: Yarmouth, Digby, Shelburne, Queens, Lunenburg, Annapolis, Kings, Windsor, Shubenacadie, Halifax, Cumberland, Colchester, Pictou, Antigonish-Guysboro, Richmond, Inverness, Victoria, Sydney, and Eskasoni.

Tribal Origin. - The Indians of Nova Scotia are of Algonkin stock, and bear the distinctive name of Micmac.

Occupations. - They follow various occupations, but, as a rule, do not confine themselves to any particular one. Many of them cultivate the land with indifferent success, but as there are exceptions in almost every case, so it is with our Indians; a few of them are succeeding very well as farmers. The majority of those living near industrial centres usually work as day labourers. Hunting, trapping, and acting as guides for sportsmen are favourite occupations, more especially with Indians of middle age. Basket-making and the manufacture of fancy moccasins, etc., are confined mostly to women. A profitable employment among Indians in a few sections of Nova Scotia is the manufacture of hockey sticks, and they appear to be experts at the business.

Dwellings. - With very few exceptions, Indians in Nova Scotia occupy houses of frame construction, well finished on the outside, but unfinished inside. Every settlement, however, has a few comfortable dwellings well finished throughout. Other buildings owned by Indians - barns and storehouses are mostly of frame construction also.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Agency. - One agency is sufficient for the purposes of the department in this province, as the total Indian population is only 292.

Tribal Origin. - The Indians of this province all belong to the Micmac tribe, which is of Algonkin stock.

Occupations. - But few of the Indians of Prince Edward Island are farmers. The principal industries are basket-making and fishing. The oyster fisheries, which had been a complete failure for some years, are again profitable and have added somewhat to the income of the Indians.

MANITOBA

Agencies. - The following agencies are included in the province of Manitoba: Fisher River, Clandeboye, Norway House, Griswold, Portage la Prairie and Manitowapah, Pas and Birtle.

Tribal Origin. - The majority of the Indians of Manitoba belong to the Ojibewa race, which is of Algonkin stock. Bands of Swampy Crees are found at the Norway House and Fisher River agencies and in the York factory district; these are also of Algonkin stock. The Indians located at the Griswold agency are Sioux; there are also Sioux at the Birtle and Portage la Prairie agencies. There is a band of Chipewyans at Fort Churchill; this tribe is of Athapaskan stock.

The reserves in Manitoba suitable for extensive agriculture are mainly within the Birtle, Griswold, and Portage la Prairie agencies. On some reserves during the last two years the crops have not been up to the standard and the Indians have somewhat lost heart in their farming operations, but generally speaking progress has been satisfactory.

In the northern agencies the occupations are mostly hunting and trapping, but fishing has been becoming a more and more important factor during the past four or five years, and considerable income has been derived therefrom.

While fur has been scarce the price has been high and the market for fish has increased. All of the northern Indians are expert guides and canoe-men, and many find employment in this way or with the transport or fur companies.

In the southern and more settled districts many of the younger people seek employment as day labourers, and owing to the high wages have been fairly prosperous. The Indian women make needle work, baskets, etc., for which there is a ready market.

Dwellings. - In recent years the Indians have adopted more sanitary methods of living. Their houses are more comfortably furnished and of better construction than formerly. In the north the nomadic life of the Indians does not permit of other than the old-fashioned log house, but even these are being greatly improved and in some cases are being replaced by suitable frame dwellings.

SASKATCHEWAN

Agencies - The following agencies are included in the province. of Saskatchewan: Assiniboine, Battleford, Carlton, Crooked Lake, Duck Lake, Moose Mountain, Onion Lake, Pelly, Qu'Appelle and Touchwood Hills.

Tribal Origin - The most numerous tribes among the Saskatchewan Indians are the Ojibewas, Swampy Crees and Plain Crees, which all belong to the great Algonkin stock. In addition to these, Sioux Indians are found at the Assiniboine, Moose Mountain, Qu'Appelle and Carlton agencies, and on the Moose Woods reserve. In the Onion Lake agency there is a band of Chipewyans, who are of Athapascan stock. There are also a few Chipewyan Indians in the Isle à la Crosse district.

The principal occupation of the Indians of Saskatchewan is mixed farming and stock-raising. The close supervision which the department has had over these Indians has tended to greatly improve their method of farming and consequently their crops and income derived from them have greatly increased. Most of the Indians are well provided with good quality of machinery. As a rule they have good stock and suitable houses. In the outlying districts, however, hunting and trapping are still the main sources of income and will so remain until civilization encroaches upon the hunting grounds.

Dwellings. - The dwellings of the Indians on the reserves where farming is carried on are now mostly of frame construction. The outbuildings, however, are generally of logs, but even there there has been some improvement.

ALBERTA

Agencies. - The following agencies are included in the Province of Alberta: Blackfoot, Blood, Edmonton, Hobbema, Peigan, Saddle Lake, Sarcee, Stony and Lesser Slave Lake.

Tribal Origin. - The Alberta Indians are of Algonkin stock, with the exception of the Sarcees near Calgary and the Beavers and Slaves in the Lesser Slave Lake agency, who are Athapascan, and the Paul's band in the Edmonton agency, who are Iroquoian, and the Stonies, who are of Siouan stock. The Algonkin Indians of Alberta are subdivided into Blackfoot nation, comprising the Indians of the Blackfoot, Blood and Peigan agencies, Plain Crees found in the Lesser Slave Lake, Saddle Lake, and Hobbema agencies, and a band of Ojibewas at Moberly Lake, in the Lesser Slave Lake agency.

The principal occupations of the Indians of Alberta are farming and stock-raising. Almost all the reserves in the settled districts of the province have hidden herds of horses and cattle.

In the northern parts of the province hunting and trapping are still almost, the sole sources of income; there is practically no farming carried on and the construction of steamers on the Peace and Athabasca rivers, and of the railways to Peace River Crossing and Fort McMurray, have greatly lessened the wages of the Indians with the trading companies and transports. However, the price of fur has been even higher than in past years.

Dwellings. - In the southern part of the province the dwellings and farm buildings are of excellent construction and quality. Almost all the reserves where extensive farming is carried on boast of up-to-date modern dwellings, comfortable and well constructed. In the northern parts of the province the majority of the Indians continue to follow their primitive nomadic mode of life, and many of them still live in tents and tepees during the greater part of the year.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Agencies. - The following agencies are included in the Province of British Columbia: Babine and Upper Skeena, Bella Coola, Cowichan, Kamloops, Kootenay, Kwawkewlth, Lytton, New Westminster, Okanagan, Queen Charlotte, Stikine, Stuart Lake, Vancouver, West Coast, Williams Lake and Skeena River.

Tribal Origin. - The Indians of the Bella Coola, Cowichan, Kamloops, Lytton, New Westminster, Vancouver, and Okanagan agencies belong to the Salish tribe. The Kootenay tribe is located in the agency of the same name. The Kwakiutl-Nootka tribe is located at the Kwawkewlth and West Coast agencies; the Haidas, in the Queen Charlotte islands; the Tlingits, in the Stikine; and the Tsimshians, in the Skeena River agency. The Indians of the Babine, Stuart Lake and Williams Lake agencies belong to the Athapascan race.

In addition to these there are about 3,000 nomadic Indians in the province who cannot be correctly classified according to linguistic stock or tribal origin.

Occupations. - The occupations of the Indians of British Columbia vary with their habitat. The Indians situated along the coast earn their livelihood principally by fishing. In many instances they own their own motor-launches, nets and gear, while others are supplied by the various canneries. Many of the women are also employed in the canneries or in the hop fields, and make a very steady income.

The Indians of the Queen Charlotte islands own and operate their own small plant for rendering the oolachan or candle fish. In the inland parts of the province some farming operations are carried on and particularly in the irrigated districts grain, fruits of all kinds, and vegetables have been raised with success.

These Indians have been making marked progress in this regard and are now well equipped with modern machinery.

The Kootenay, Kamloops, Okanagan and New Westminster Indians own hidden herds of horses and cattle. While the Indians in the northern and remote parts of the province still depend upon hunting and trapping for their livelihood, the agents report a marked improvement in their manner of living.

Dwellings. - Except for the more remote districts the Indians have built comfortable and modern dwellings and outbuildings. Their progress in this respect has been perhaps more rapid than that of any other Indians of the Dominion.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES

Agencies. - The department has now three agencies in the Northwest Territories, namely, Fort Simpson, Fort Smith, and Fort Resolution.

Tribal Origin. - The principal tribes found in the Far North are the Slave, Hares, Loucheux, Sicannies, Dogribs, Yellow-knives, Chipewyans and Caribou Eaters. All these tribes are of Athapascan stock. There are a few Crees in the neighbourhood of Chipewyan. These are of Algonkin stock. The most northerly tribes are the Takudah, who extend to the Mackenzie Delta; and the Copper Mines, who are located along the Coppermine river. The territory occupied by these two last-mentioned tribes is contiguous to that inhabited by the Eskimos.

These Indians depend entirely upon hunting and trapping for a livelihood. The department in 1921 made a treaty with the Indians along the Mackenzie river thus bringing under the supervision of the Dominion Government practically the only Indians in Canada with whom treaty had not been made.

Occupations. - A few have been induced to raise small plots of potatoes. They own no horses or cattle, transportation being almost entirely by canoe along the great waterways, or by dogs in winter. They catch and preserve hidden quantities of whitefish for their own use and for consumption by their dog-trains in winter.

YUKON

Tribal Origin. - The Forty Mile, Blackstone, and Moosehide bands belong to the Takudah tribe. There is a band of Slavies at Lancing Creek who migrated from Fort Good Hope, on the Mackenzie river; another band of Slavies, called Nahanies, is located at the headwaters of the Pelly river. All these Indians are of Athapascan stock. At Mayo, Selkirk, Little Salmon and Carmacks there are bands belonging to the tribe known as, Stick Indians. Bands belonging to the Tlingit tribe are found at Whitehorse, Teslin Lake, Champagne Landing, and Carcross.

Occupations. - Hunting, trapping and fishing are the chief occupations of the Yukon Indians, and they have been fairly successful during the past year. The women also derive some revenue from the sale of mocassins and curios of various kinds, while the men are expert at making toboggans and snowshoes. Practically no farming is carried on owing to climatic conditions, but some of the Indians cultivate patches of potatoes and other vegetables.
