THE
DAILY ADVERTISER
LONDON, ONT.

THE circulation of this paper is larger than both its local contemporaries combined, being read by merchants, mechanics, and the people generally, and it is everywhere recognized as the leading commercial and family newspaper of the West. As a medium of communication with the inhabitants of London, the towns and villages surrounding, and throughout the entire West, the ADVERTISER is the best beyond comparison.

THE WESTERN ADVERTISER AND WEEKLY LIBERAL,
LONDON, - - ONTARIO.

THIS is the leading journal of Western Ontario, its very wide-spread and general circulation giving it a pre-eminence never before attained by any paper in Ontario (excepting only one Toronto journal). While it has NO RIVAL as a Western medium, it also extends to all sections of the Dominion.

Its circulation is nearly 20,000 COPIES, and is rapidly increasing. This figure is entirely unprecedented in Ontario, with the one exception noted.

That the ADVERTISER is the most economical medium for advertising, is well known and conclusively proved by those whose advertisements frequently and continuously appear in its columns. Considering the extent and character of the circulation, it is confidently asserted that its rates are cheaper than those of any other newspaper.

PREFACE.

The Publishers in presenting this, their Third Edition of the City of London Directory, beg to state that a thorough canvass of the city and surroundings has been made and every effort used to obtain the name of every person who should be represented in a Directory. This being the first work issued since the houses have been numbered makes it more valuable than any of its predecessors. Heretofore a Directory could only tell you between what streets a person resided, making it necessary to enquire at several houses before you found the right one. With the numbers this trouble is entirely done away with, and consequently is a great saving of time to the number of persons who daily have to look to a Directory for information. No pains or expense have been spared to make this work a fit representative of the importance and enterprise of the Forest City of the West.

The Subscribers' Classified Business Directory contains almost every business and Professional man in the city.

The Miscellaneous Directory furnishes a large amount of information, useful to the citizens as well as the numerous strangers who visit the city on business or pleasure. Special attention has been paid to this portion of the work.

In taking leave of their patrons till next year, they have much pleasure in thanking them for their liberal patronage in the shape of subscriptions and advertisements. To the Proprietors of the city papers, their special thanks are tendered.

THE CITY OF LONDON.

The city of London, in the township of that name, is the capital of the county of Middlesex. It is beautifully situated in the midst of a fine section of country, at the confluence of the two branches of the River Thames. It was laid out in 1826, by the Crown, on lands reserved by Governor Simcoe, from as early a date as 1796, with the intention of founding a town by that name.

It was surveyed by Col. Burwell, who lived on Talbot street, near Port Talbot. Its limits then were bounded on the north by North street, on the east by Wellington street, and on the west and south by the two branches of the river.

The late Col. Talbot was appointed by the Government to grant the lots.

Up to this date a solitary log tavern, with a stump, hollow at the bottom, and serving the double purpose of bar-room, counter and cupboard, was the only tenement that adorned London. The second house was built by Abraham Carroll, from Oxford county, and was, like the first, intended for a tavern, but just before being completed it was burned down. Carroll, however, went to work, erected another, and began business the following summer.

The first bridge constructed of those now spanning the river was the Westminster. It was finished in the summer of 1828.

Up to this time London had not shown any extra degree of vitality, and it was not until the extensive emigration of 1832, five years after its first settlement, that it began to increase rapidly.

This was due to its position, and the difficulties consequent thereon, lacking the great advantages it at present enjoys in the facilities for transportation afforded by the different lines of railway. At this period, however, lots began to be taken up rapidly by enterprising adventurers from the British Isles, and it soon presented the appearance of a thriving Canadian village.

London returned a representative to the Legislature in 1836, having at that time a population of 1,037.

Its first member was Mr. Mahlon Burwell. His opponent for Legislative honors was Mr. John Scatcherd, father of Thos. Scatcherd, Esq., Barrister—the present representative of West Middlesex. The assessed value of the town property for that year was $34,380. In 1840 it was incorporated a village—having a population of 1,716—with a Board of Police, of which the Hon. G. J. Goodhue was the first President. In 1846 it became a town; elected Mr. Simeon Morrill its first Mayor in 1848; and attained to the dignity of a city in 1855, with a population of over 10,000. Mr. John Wilson, Q.C., was its first representative in the Legislature, and Mr. Murray Anderson was elected its first Mayor after this important epoch occurred in its history.

From the first, the value of real estate steadily increased, but it made ominous leaps from 1852 to 1858, values increasing threefold in that time. Then, the frenzy of speculation having run its course, a relapse ensued, and values shrank nearly one-half, large numbers who had yielded to the allurements of the time being ruined. Since then the growth of London has been steady and healthy, and we doubt if to-day there exists in the Dominion of Canada a more thriving or prosperous city, or one giving promise of a brighter future. The city contains several ornamental public buildings, among these the Court House and Jail, built of brick, in the form of a castle, which is a handsome and substantial edifice, costing to build about £10,000. Their imposing appearance cannot fail to strike the European, recalling to his memory the stately edifices of his native land.

In educational facilities London possesses superior advantages containing, in addition to numerous primary and select schools, the Huron and Hellmuth Colleges, Convent of the Sacred Heart, two Business Colleges, and others, all being in a flourishing condition.

The moral interests of the city are represented by numerous churches, many of which are beautiful and costly edifices. Among these, St. Paul's Cathedral, a gothic structure, tastefully surrounded by trees and shrubberies, is worthy of special remark. Also St. Peter's Cathedral.

One of the leading branches of industry is coal oil refining, which is extensively carried on, and has added greatly to the growth and prosperity of the city. The refineries are located at the eastern limits.

A number of large flouring mills are in successful operation, affording a ready market for the products of the surrounding country, and from which large shipments of flour are made to other points, and considerable quantities exported to Europe.

The foundries and machine shops give employment to a large number of mechanics and afford profitable remuneration for capital.

Agricultural implements are manufactured extensively, and find their way to all parts of the Dominion, as well as the United States and Europe, the manufacturers of London taking first rank in this department of mechanical skill.

Directions to Key-Holders.

In case of fire run to the nearest box, and, if no ticking is heard inside, place your key in the outside door, and carefully open the door; then draw the handle to the right, and downwards, as far as it will go, once, and let it go; close the door and wait for the arrival of the Department, to report, if necessary, the locality of the fire. Always, if possible, take the hour and minute of the day or night when the alarm is given, and the time the Fire Department arrive upon the ground, which information give to the officers in charge of the Fire Department.

Never put a key into a box unless for fire.

Do not pull a box for a chimney on fire, or for fires outside of the city limits.

The key-holders are requested to report any tampering with the line or boxes to the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department.
