SANDWICH.

The county town and judicial seat of the County of Essex is beautifully situated in the midst of a fine and well settled agricultural country, on the Detroit River, about two miles below Windsor, and nine miles below Lake St. Clair. This is one of the oldest towns in the Western section of Canada, having been the district town of the Western District, where all the judicial business of the three Counties, viz: Essex, Kent, and Lambton, was transacted, and one would be naturally disposed to inquire why it did not keep pace with other towns and villages throughout the country—having now only a population of about one thousand, whereas the population of its rival town, Windsor, numbers about four thousand five hundred. The reason, no doubt, for the more rapid increase of population in the latter place—and consequently its greater increase in wealth and general importance was the fact of its having more immediate connection with the City of Detroit upon the opposite shore, and also its being upon the line of the Great Western Railway.—Notwithstanding, Sandwich has her attractions, being surrounded by highly improved and beautiful farms, among which might be mentioned the Prince estate, owned now by Charles Prince, Esq., a son of old Colonel Prince, formerly member of Parliament for the Western District. Upon this place there is an orchard extending over twenty acres, containing the choicest fruits of every description. The farm in all contains about 300 acres, in which there are beautiful oak groves, evincing remarkable taste.

Several newspapers were established in Sandwich, but through some means or other ceased to exist. In 1846 a paper was published, called the Western Standard; at that time the town contained a population of 450.

It contains at present one Grist and Carding Mill, two Tanneries, one Sash, Door and Blind Factory, one Saw Mill, one Foundry, a Brick Yard, Shingle factory, two Wagon Shops, Bakery, one Gunsmith, seven general stores, four groceries, five Hotels, five Saloons, one Boot and Shoe Factory, two Potash Factories, and one Brewery, five Churches and several Schools.

There are two Sabbath-schools in the town, one of which is under the charge of the Episcopalian body, the other under the direction of the Wesleyan Methodist body. There are about ninety-three pupils. The former is held at 9, a. m., and the other at 2, p. m. The unanimity of the schools is evident from the fact that the pupils attend each of the schools. Rev. Mr. Elliott, superintendent Episcopal; R. A. Stewart, teacher common school, Wesleyan Methodist.

A MHERSTBURG.

The Town of Amherstburg is situated on the Detroit River, in the Township of Malden, about sixteen miles distant from Sandwich, in a south westerly direction. It was formerly a garrison, but no troops have been stationed here since 1851, since which time the buildings, which were capable of holding a regiment, have been converted into a Lunatic Asylum. Amherstburg was laid out as a town in the year 1795, and the following year after the evacuation of Detroit, it began to be settled. It was surveyed by the Ordnance Department, when lots sold for $40. Most of the houses are built in the old French style, and the streets are narrow, which gives the place a very old-fashioned appearance. The banks of the Detroit are low and sandy for some miles after leaving Sandwich, but about two miles and a-half from Amherstburg the banks rise suddenly to a considerable height, and continues so to where the river emerges into the lake; below the town the banks are remarkably beautiful, upon which are erected several handsome private residences. About a mile below the town is a Chalybeate Spring, the water of which is said to resemble that of Cheltenham in England. The water was first discovered making its exit from below the wall of an old barn, and from its depositing a considerable quantity of iron wherever it ran, first attracted attention. This water is said to contain medicinal properties.

In 1846, Amherstburg contained a population of 985; the population now numbers about 2,500, and the town is in a prosperous condition generally. The first hotel was opened by Wm. Searl, in 1815. The first grist mill was built by Wm. McGee, in 1832. John McLeod built the first saw mill in 1840. The town now contains seven general stores, one grist mill, one saw mill, nine hotels, six wagon-shops four harness shops, ten blacksmith shops, twelve groceries, one physician, five schools, (average attendance, 140—taught by Mr. Ashton since 1865; the building was erected in 1862, of stone, at a cost of $3,200,) five churches and two drug stores. Mails received daily at 1:30, p. m., and dispatched at 1, p. m., James Kevill, postmaster.

The steamer Pearl leaves here every morning, (Sundays excepted) at 7, a. m., calling at intermediate ports, arriving at Detroit at 9:30, a. m., leaves Detroit at 4, p. m., arriving here at 6:30, p. m. Stages leave daily at 1, p. m., for Windsor. About a mile and a-half above Amherstburg is a dock named "Texas," at which the steamers and vessels call. The Lime Stone Quarry is situated about a mile east of the dock. Captain Wilson, of the Indian Department, was first postmaster in Amherstburg. The medical superintendent of the Asylum, Andrew Fisher, M. D.,—whose praise is upon the lips of every one who has the pleasure of his acquaintance, and whose fitness to occupy the position he does, is universally acknowledged, and justly so—has kindly furnished us with the following account of this institution.

MALDEN LUNATIC ASYLUM,

Occupying the buildings formerly used as a fort, was established in June, 1859, and intended at the time it was organized for the quiet and curable patients of the Provincial Asylum, of whom 214 were transferred up to September, 1861, when it was made a prime institution for receiving lunatics from the following counties in Upper Canada, viz: Norfolk, Oxford, Middlesex, Elgin, Kent, Essex, and Lambton. Few buildings have been erected in addition to those erected, and used as a fort, and fifty-eight acres of land, which was part of the military reserve, is attached to the buildings as grounds; the same has been greatly improved, and the most of it in a high state of cultivation, and produces vegetables of the best quality, yielding annually to the amount of $3000 worth. The situation is beautiful, commanding a view of from ten to twelve islands, and the grounds have been improved greatly under the care of Dr. Fisher, the banks having been protected by a break water, and the grounds near the building ornamented with a choice lot of trees, shrubbery and flowers. There are walks for the patients, and those that are inclined to work are kept employed. There is a large tank in the square, which holds 30,000 gallons of water, and a fire engine with sufficient hose to reach any part of the buildings, (which are mostly of wood). There are about 4000 gallons of water used per day in the laundry and wards, which is pumped from the river by means of a small steam engine, about four horse power. The bread used in the building is all baked in a bake-house adjacent to the buildings, and the meat in a slaughter house situated in the upper part of the premises. The laundry, ironing room, drying room and sewing room—the former has troughs in it supplied with hot and cold water. The drying rooms are heated with hot water pipes and hot air, and sewing in the upper part of the room used as the laundry. The male and female departments have both hot and cold shower baths, water closets and laboratories, which were put up since the buildings were used for Asylum purposes. Such patients as can be induced, of the males, are kept at work on the farm, and the female patients in cooking, washing, and sewing. The number of patients admitted from the seven counties is 137. The total number at present is 235—121 men and 114 women.—The following are the officers:

Soil—sand, loam and clay, producing wheat, corn, oats, barley and tobacco in abundance; and also, fruit of every description, apples, pears, peaches, grapes, &c. A considerable quantity of sorghum is now produced. The population is now about 500. There are two daily stages each way; mails daily from the east at 8 a. m., and west at 4 p. m., George Cooper, Postmaster.
